TWENTY-TWO NAVAL CONTRACTS AWARDED

Secretary Daniels Acts on Largest Order Ever Awarded By Department.

Forging ahead in the process of up-building the navy, the department has awarded contracts for sixteen submarines and six destroyers.

One destroyer will be built at Norfolk navy yard and one at Mare Island. folk navy yard and one at Mare Island.
Cal. Four submarines will be built on the Pacific coast. The Bremerton.
Wash., and the Portsmouth navy yards
each will build one.
Awards on the four destroyers were:
Cramp & Sons, two at $445,000 each;
Beattle Construction and Drydock Company. one at $85,000; Bath Iron Works,
one at $879,500.
The destroyer to be built at Mare

one at $879,500.

The destroyer to be built at Mare Island will cost $762,638, and the one at Norfolk, $706,305.

Total of the destroyer awards is $4,923,443. Each will have thirty knots speed. Delivery is required in eighteen to twenty months.

Gets Eight Awards.

On the submarines, the Electric Boat company got eight at $545,000 each. The Lake Torpedoboat Company got three at same figure, and the California Ship-ding Company got three at $545,500 building Company got three at $348,500 each.

It is interesting to note," said Secretary Daniels in awarding the contracts, "that the six destroyers and sixteen submarines constitute the greatest number of contracts for new construction ever awarded in the history of the Navy Department at one time.

"The destroyers will be built, in the main, in accordance with the department's designs, except in the case of the one boat to be built by the Bath Iron Works, which will be according to the bidder's design of machinery, for which that company guarantees results in speed and cruising radius somewhat in excess of those required by the department.

THE BROKEN COIN

By EMERSON HOUGH.

Sure enough, even from where they were they could see dark forms running here and there, could see the launching of a boat, could see it coming on, rising and falling on the waves.

"Who are they, excellency?" asked Roleau. "What manner of men are they—savages, think you?" "Who can tell? We can only wait." "Who can tell? We can only wait." at length the craft came alongside, manned by strange, swarthy natives, whose speech they did not know, yet who seemed friendly enough withal to serve as rescuers for them. With small ceremony they were hauled on board, and the boat, turning, made way back to the shore again.

"Tis an island, Roleau," said Frederlick, after a moment spent in examination. "Not so large, but excellent under foot, is it not true? And these people seem not unfriendly to us."

For a time they had been left alone, but now they saw certain of the natives returning with food and water. Upon these both the shipwrecked adventurers fell with eagerness. Their captors stood about and grinned in pleasure. All the wealth of Count Frederick, his gold, his castles, his lands—these things seemed little in value as compared to what these swarthy natives brought him now.

CHAPTER LXVI.

Kitty, the Castaway.

If Count Frederick and Roleau had been dismayed when they saw Kitty Gray swept away from them in the mad at the gray way from them in the mad struggle for safety in the sea, what must have been her own feelings as the could never tell.

If Count Frederick and Roleau had been dismayed when they saw Kitty Gray swept away from them in the mad Gray swept away from them in the mad struggle for safety in the sea, what must have been her own feelings as she found herself separated from these powerful friends? Once more she found herself alone-and once more in the blind instinct for selfpreservation she did what she could for her own safety. She dared not think of the fate of her friends. She mourned them now as dead, but still in her subconcious mind kept bitterly lighting the conviction even as it came. And as she argued, she found herself swept away farther and farther from the place where she had last seen them.

even as it came. And as she argued, she flound hereself swept away farther and farther from the place where she had sart seen them.

"The destroyers will be built, in the main, in accordance with the department's designs, except in the case of the one boat to be built by the Hath Iron Works, which will be according to the bidder's design of machinery, for which that company guarantees results in speed and cruising radius somewhat in excess of those required by the department.

Aids Navy Yards.

"The order for the construction of one of these vessels at each of the Mare Island and Norfolk yards is in pursuance of the department's policy of equipping and developing our navy yards to the highest point of efficiency in times of peace, so that they may be prepared for the greater strains which would be thrown on these organizations in lime of war.

"The award of a contract for one vessel to the Seatile Construction and Dry Dock Company marks the bestiming of the Pauli Jones, Perry, and Preble, in 1922.

"Both of the submarines to be built at the navy yards will be on the design of the Electric Boat Company. The designs and specifications which were submitted by the bidders meet in all essential respects the riging requirement.

Engines Improved.

"In general features and characterismitted by the bidders meet in all ease sential respects the rigid requirement for this class of vessel which were laid down by the Navy Department.

Engines Improved.

"In general features and characteristics they represent a small advance in efficiency. Both designs propose improved engines of the heavy oil types, and greatly improved storage batteries, and greatly improved storage batteries, and squares and engineering science, and by extended experience in previous submarines of the Linted States navy.

"As in the case of the destroyers, the bidders for these submarines show their ability to build more rapidly than herefore, as the guaranteed dates of elivery are in all cases well within the twenty-four months, which was the best period of construction for any boats of this class previously laid down."

Specifications For Boats.

The principal characteristics of the new vessels will be:

Destroyers—Length, 33545 feet; bearm 56 feet? Inches: draft, 8 feet; displacement, 1,125 tons; speed, 30 knots Each will have a battery of four 4-tinch rapid-fire rifles, two anti-aircraft suns, four tiple torpedo tubes to discharge the heaviest and longest range torpedees new built. They will be propelled by steam turbins, oil fuel fired water tube hollers.

Submarines—Steed, 14 knotds on surface and 10 submersed; displacement, 550 tons. Each will carry, in addition to the torpedo tubes, a 3-inch disappearing riffe for surface fighting frequences and batteries for propulsion when submerged.

Funerals

"Yes," she said to berself, "he saved me at the cost of his own life." And the life of that other faithful friend, Roleau, the dauntless, it, too, had been wasted to save her own—the life she now could hold but worthless, since it must be lived alone. They were dead—and she had been the cause of that! What could life hold further for her? Kitty Grav bent her head down upon her knees. Her hair fell about her face And thus she sat, she know not how long, resigning herself to her fair, making her peace with what she felt new must come. "Now," said she, "let me die!" And when once more the sleen of exhaustion came upon her she thought it that of death itself.

She awakened, none the less, in time—for strong, indeed, are the lies that bind us whether or not we like to this life into which we are born without our own asking. She wakened and stared with hollow eyes about her at a Yes," she said to herself, "he saved
